DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 1, 2, 5-8, 17-20, 22-28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sheffer in view of Hermitage. The patent to Sheffer teaches structure substantially as claimed including a body (10) defining a longitudinal axis and including several sequentially disposed layers in end-to-end disposition (figs. 1-2 @ 11-17) score lines (20), tongues (30) and openings (40), the structure of corrugated fiberboard the only difference being that the direction of the flutes is not specifically stated as being extending in the direction of the longitudinal axis. However, the use of flutes in a particular direction would have been obvious in the art since it would depend on the direction of reinforcement desired. Further, the patent to Hermitage (at figs 2-3) teaches the use of flutes extending in the direction of the longitudinal axis. It would have been obvious at the time of the invention to modify the structure of Sheffer to include a knowledge of extending the flutes in a specific direction, as being an obvious modification in view of one having ordinary skill in the art and further shown by Hermitage since such structures are conventional alternative structures used in the same intended purpose of providing reinforcement of structures, thereby providing structure as claimed. The use of known conventional structures, such as adhesives, staples, welding, friction fitting would have been obvious. Further, applicant is given judicial notice that such connecting structures are conventional structures used for the purpose of connection. It is noted that a weakened material area is at a valley of the flute or at the score line of the layer. To provide a weakened area is inherent to where the corrugated structure is folded. In response to applicant's remarks, note column 2, lines 51-56 which states "The scoring lines 20 represent a machined indentation on the surface of the fiber board..." which is a weakened area as claimed. The flutes of the cardboard structure extend in the direction of the longitudinal axis in as much as the instant invention's.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 06/08/04 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Note the remarks in the above rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
